1. I am a research assistant in the Whittemore Peterson (“WPI”) research lab, where I have been employed since January 5, 2010.
2. On or about September 29, 2011, after Dr. Mikovits’ termination from WPI, I was informed by Judy Mikovits to remove cell lines and blood samples from the lab at WPI and to ship them out. Earlier in the week she had personally requested several samples of cell lines and plasma to be shipped to Frank Ruscetti. Dr. Mikovits stated that I was to report to her, that she was my boss and that she was still the Research Director. The method of communication was Max Pfost’s cell phone by text message. Mikovits stated that I was to help her and Max Pfost ship the samples out. I did not ship the samples.
3. My regular schedule was to work Monday, Wednesday and Friday. During the period of September 26, 2011 to October 6, 2011, I did not work on any days other than Monday and Wednesday, September 26 and 28, 2011.
4. At no time during that time did I see Dr. Mikovits’ keys in the laboratory, nor did I see them when I left WPI on Wednesday, September 28, 2011. I did not return to WPI until after Mikovits’ termination. Mikovits would leave her keys behind in a drawer in the lab if she was leaving town, otherwise she would take the keys home with her every night. In addition, Mikovits took her laptop home with her every time I saw her leave WPI. Also, she took her notebooks out of the lab to finish work at home, which I understood was against the research rules.
5. I put approximately 10 laboratory notebooks in the new research laboratory in November, 2010 when WPI moved from the old research laboratory, and I have not seen them since. These laboratory notebooks were on the bench top, which was against procedure, so I put them away in a lockable drawer.

6. I heard from her last week, Wednesday November 16, 2011, by text message when she was trying to find Max Pfost.
